

Termites

Termites are the number one pest when it comes to structural damage to homes. Most of this damage is caused by subterranean or soil-nesting termites in search for food containing cellulose such as wood, paper, clothes etc.

Is completely destroyed on the inside

what seems intact on the outside

They construct pathways or mud tubes from nest to food source. They tubes are sure sign of infestation, as are winged termites seen hovering around light sources during the monsoons. Lack of these tell-tale signs does not mean there are no termites around and damage often goes undetected till it's too late. When dealing with termites, prevention is definitely better than cure.

Rodent Management Solutions

RODENTS

Rats and mice make themselves comfortable in human surroundings, finding food and shelter in our home. They breed rapidly and contaminate food, damage clothes and other materials. They spread diseases such as plague, leptospirosis, murine typhus and rat bite fever.

House Mouse:

Smallest of the rodents found in homes, brown to grey in colour. It prefers the ground level; and can make nests in sofas, upholstery, old files, insulation etc.

Roof Rat:

Slightly larger than the house mouse, dark brown to black in colour. It prefers higher areas such as false ceilings and rafters, where it makes nests. Very cautious by nature, it shies away from new objects.

Indian bandicoot Rat: The largest of Indian rats, it is found near garbage bins and refuse collection areas. It lives in burrows, often excavated in footpath tiles and concrete. It also spreads diseases such as plague and leptospirosis.

Rodent Piper Service: Total rodent management solutions package, especially for housing societies, common areas and compounds. It uses the latest materials such as our own low-dose rat bait for outdoor areas together with thorough and continuous monitoring. For indoor areas, we advocate the use of do-it-yourself products such as our special Gum & rodent glue traps.
